DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

In response to the amendment filed February 11, 2005 in which the applicant adds new claims 41-44, and claims 1-44 are pending in this application.

Double Patenting

1. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

2. Claims 1-40 are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-36 of U.S. Patent No. 6,773,325. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because claims 1-36 of the U.S. Patent No. 6,773,325 "anticipates" application serial number 09/556839 of claims 1-40. Accordingly, the application of claims 1-40 are not patentably distinct from U.S. Patent No. 6,773,325 of claims 1-36. Here, U.S. Patent No. 6,773,325 of claims 1-36 requires a toy figure, a first game system configured to communicate with the toy figure, a second game system configured to communicate with the toy figure while the application of claims 1-40 only requires elements toy figure, a first game system configure to communicate with the toy figure, a second game system configured to communicate with the toy figure, the first game system includes a first design, and the second game system includes a second design. Thus it is apparent that the more specific U.S. Patent No. 6,773,325 of claims 1-36 encompasses the application of claims 1-40. Following the rationale in In re Goodman cited in the preceding paragraph, where applicant has once been granted a patent containing a claim for the specific or narrower invention, applicant may not then obtain a second patent with a claim for the generic or broader invention without first submitting an appropriate terminal disclaimer.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

3. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

4. Claims 41-44 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. The specification does not disclose according to claims 41-44 a controller configured to communicate with the toy, access the information relating to the toy. Applicant's reference page 1, line 13 to page 3, line 17 and page 22, lines 27 and 28 of the specification. However the summary only discloses a control configured to communicate with the toy and download the stored information relating to the toy. The examiner request applicant to point out in the original disclosure the claimed limitation of a controller configured to communicate with the toy, access the information relating to the toy.

Allowable Subject Matter

5. Claims 1-40 contain allowable subject matter in view of prior art for the reasons disclosed in the previous office action mailed December 14, 2004 and claims 34-40 are maintained in the previous office action of paper number 16, Mailed December 18, 2003. These claims are rejected under obviousness-type double patenting.
